"At the heart of the technological and industrial revolutions of our society, Grenoble-Alpes Métropole vibrates entirely of a spirit of innovation recognized all over the world. Like the GIANT project, an innovation campus of international dimension, the city draws its dynamic from fertile relationships between research laboratories, universities, clusters and the economic world, all of that in an urban setting that has been deeply renewed in the past years. This energy translates into a population that is both young, scientific and cosmopolitan, attracted by the many cultural and sporting attractions of the city. Surrounded by the Alps, concerned about its environment, Grenoble offers unforgettable views and many activities related to nature and mountains. Accessible and convivial, this metropolis with a thousand faces is the ideal playground for congresses, conferences and other professional events, deploying a wide range of modern facilities, unusual and unique venues and quality accommodation.
